The “Umberto Novaro” Park (Piani Paorelli di Costarainera_Imperia_Liguria)

The park was built in 1938 as a Mediterranean scrub oasis overlooking the sea with Italian gardens, belvederes and a food company inside thought to welcome and serve people affected by tuberculosis. The Park of the ex sanatorium (about 45.000 m²) is facing now a new challenge connected with its future restore.

Thank to the project Jardival, a big portion of this enormous environmental heritage (about 5.500 m²) is now the object of an important enhancement project, the objective is to transform the park in a modern psycho-physical “healthy park” equipped with fitness equipments, educational workshops, thematic gardens and sensory patterns based on the therapeutic properties of plants, so the original and historical function of the park is conserved.
